ZURICH CONCERTS

15 years of Kontrabassduo Studer-Frey

Studer and Frey work so closely that you might say they are conspirators. These recordings are all the more important because they show how well the duo functions even with other musicians. Indeed, they are inspired, and the level of presence and energy remains high. The quality of the music on both CDs is in part the result of not having been constructed, but rather created in the moment. Studer and Frey require no studio to find their music. When they play, it is always already there. What they want, how they do it, why it sounds that way, and when it happens: that is listening in real time. They compose intuitively and are precisely tuned. They are the music fish that slips out of your hands when you try to grasp it. Together with their illustrious guests, they have swum across an entire ocean."
